BOARD WORKS ON FAIR PLANS

Four-Day Agricultural Exposition To Open Next Tuesday.

AERIAL TROUPE BOOKED

Entries in Various Exhibits Coming in Daily, Officials Reports.

Final preparations for what they hope will be one of the biggest agricultural expositions in the history of the county are being made by Marion county fair officials this week as they prepare for a four-day session of fair Sept. 12, 13, 14 and 15.

In rounding out the night fair program, the fair board has booked the aerial troupe of Malloy and Siegrist of Canton to give performances each night and to give short features between heats of afternoon races.

Entries in various exhibits and contests are being made daily at the office of Secretary C. G. Ritzler in the board of elections office. An unusually complete horse show has been assured by entries already made, and other departments are filling rapidly.

The board will meet Saturday at the fairgrounds to review in detail all plans for the fair and make last minute changes and additions to the program, Mr. Ritzler said.

He reported that a complete line of concessions has been secured on the grounds. The grounds will be opened early next week to permit exhibitors to make arrangements for their displays.

As in recent years, the admission price this year will be 25 cents.

Persons purchasing $1.25 membership tickets will receive six admission tickets without extra charge, Mr. Ritzler said.

MRS. CLARA ROBBINS VICTIM OF APOPLEXY

Marion Woman Dies at Home of Daughter; Ill Six Weeks.

Mrs. Clara Robbins, 71, died today at 3 a. m. of apoplexy at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edna Schultz, of 427 North Main street. She had been ill six weeks and two weeks ago suffered a stroke.

Mrs. Robbins was a native of Licking county and had resided in Marion for the last 25 years. The only close surviving relative is Mrs. Schultz with whom Mrs. Robbins always made her home.

drive back and forth all day over his own route, delighted with freedom from responsibility. Something like that might have suited Apple Annie better—for instance, a present of $50, a comfortable seat and comfortable day's gossip next to some other busy apple lady. But there would have been no advertising in that.

VERMONT for nearly 50 years one of the most earnest prohibition states, now votes 2 to 1 against prohibition in the Constitution. Vermonters apparently think that the beauties of constitutional prohibition are not great enough to offset the crime wave and kidnapping epidemic financed by bootlegging.

Twenty-five states have voted against prohibition, this column, of it. That, which, thought, guessing, apparently, thought, happened, 36 states voting to abolish prohibition and bring back the strong as well as the light drinks.

THE FRENCH carrying out army maneuvers on the frontier, have only 13,000 men engaged, instead of the former gigantic marching armies, and operate with not a single soldier visible except swift motorcyclists and automobile riders. Fighting men, travel hidden inside swiftly moving, steel-armored "tanks" that roll over ditches and hills at 50 miles an hour, no infantry, no cavalry.

The object is swift possible transportation from point to point, cannon and machine guns mounted on the steel tanks, airplanes guiding, spying and informing.

That is the new war. The United States will probably hear about it. Sometime in the year 2033, or sooner, in case we are attacked.

THAT A RECENT railroad wreck killed many is not surprising, since the train included a wooden car, sandwiched in between steel cars. In an all-wooden train passengers might have some chance in a collision. But in steel cars, passengers have a little hope of survival as so many files in a match box between a sledge hammer and an anvil.

CONDITION CRITICAL.

The condition of Mrs. Alice Sines, aged 61, is critical today. She was struck by an automobile Tuesday morning, was critically today, city hospital attaches reported. Mrs. Sines was struck by an automobile driven by George T. Heckman of Mt. Vernon.

Circus Performers Give Programs at Clubs Here

Rotarians and Kiwanians Hear Details of Life Under Big Top; Singer Appears.

Two Marion service clubs today heard representatives of the Hagerman circus give interesting details of life in the big top. The circus is in town today, and a night performance will be given at the Marion club, and an afternoon and a night performance at the Kiwanis club.

At the Kiwanis club, Roy Delaney, announcer, Miss de Lacy, piano accompanist, and a quartet of vocalists, including a soloist, gave a program of songs and instrumental pieces.

All told, the circus is a big business. The Hagerman circus is one of the largest in the world, and it is a big business. The circus is a big business, and it is a big business.

CALEDONIA LODGE PLANS CELEBRATION

Special to The Star. CALEDONIA, Sept. 2.—Plans were made for celebrating the eighty-second anniversary of the Bazaar degree Sept. 26 at the regular meeting of Deborah Rebekah lodge last night in the I. O. O. F. hall.

Miss Mary Brocklesby was appointed to represent the lodge at the general committee meeting of the I. O. O. F. lodge in Marion, Sept. 10, to make arrangements for the I. O. O. F. reunion. The degree staff will practice at the meeting in two weeks.

Mrs. Lewis Rinkel was surprised Tuesday night when the Loyal Sons and Daughters class of the Church of Christ met at her home in honor of her birthday anniversary. The event also marked the ninth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Hipsley.

At a previous meeting A. C. Johnson and W. W. Durbin, local Democratic leaders, were selected to present this city's application for the loan and grant.

During the first September session councilmen also authorized application of $2,800 for the drilling of two additional wells for the city's deep well water system, and it was decided to refrain from action on a proposal to reconstruct West Main street, a part of U. S. Route 100, east of which was to have been built by state, county and city.

Lack of available funds was given as reason for the action.

NEW M. E. PASTOR COMES HERE TODAY

Rev. Henry Maag of Hamilton, O., named to succeed Rev. Karl W. Patow as pastor of the Prospect street M. E. church arrived in Marion today with his family.

Rev. Maag will serve the Marion M. E. church, created at the Central conference last month in Cincinnati. The parish consists of the Prospect street and Zion churches.

TWO ADMIT THEFT, GET 30-DAY TERMS

Clyde Warner and Joe Drake Sentenced by Judge Martin.

Thursday sentences in the Columbus workhouse were meted out to Clyde Warner, 23, of 502 Bennett street, and Joe Drake, 26, of 423 North Main street, when they pleaded guilty in municipal court yesterday afternoon to charges of larceny in connection with the burglary of 18 months ago of the Owens residence at Owens street, five miles south of Marion.

Judge William B. Martin also fined the men the costs of prosecution, which officials said, will be added to the length of their terms. Arrest of the men and what proved to be a search of the Owens residence for a burglar, containing $155, reported stolen from the C. R. Young residence on Sharp street, Warner and Mrs. Edna Warner, 42, of 423 North Main street, were held in the women's quarters of the city prison, with hearing set for Friday at 3 p. m. on a $5000 bond, based on the theft of the pocketbook.

The current real estate tax collection, to end Sept. 15, stood at $423,604.74 this morning.

Through a misunderstanding in which Tuesday's receipts were added twice, the total collection was erroneously reported yesterday to be $469,859.54. The figure yesterday should have been $421,655.75. Yesterday's receipts, totaling $194,896, brings the total to $616,551.74, Treasurer R. G. Smallwood said.

Scioto River Project Is Again in Spotlight

Improvement of Stream Forwarded To War Secretary by Fletcher.

A group of War George W. Dern by Congressman Brooks Fletcher after a group of LaRue residents and others interested in the project called upon the congressman here Saturday to enlist his support. Mr. Fletcher said he has promised to do all within his power to support the proposed improvement.

Mr. Fletcher said he anticipated a government survey of the Scioto river through Marion county and sections of Hardin and Delaware counties. A survey will be needed before the government could accept a project, he said.

Deepening, widening and dredging of the river to eliminate flood conditions that follow every heavy rain, and to reclaim hundreds of acres of farm lands which have been rendered almost worthless for farming because of repeated floods, are sought by sponsors of the improvement. The LaRue Businessmen's club has been actively seeking improvement of the river. Among the most active in the movement are Dean Ridgway and E. E. Blazer, both of LaRue.

Resolutions presented to Mr. Fletcher and forwarded to Washington were signed by the board of education of the LaRue village school district, LaRue village council, Green Camp village council, Green Camp township trustees, Montgomery township trustees, Prospect Commercial club, LaRue Business Men's association, Marion county commissioners, Hardin county commissioners, Hardin township (Hardin county) trustees. History of a previous attempt by Marion county to have the government improve the river in 1918 also was obtained from County Surveyor Carl H. Tozzer and forwarded to Washington.

FLETCHER TO SPEAK IN DETROIT FOR NRA

Congressman Donates Time
To Work for Recovery Program.

Congressman Brooks Fletcher, who has donated six weeks of his time to the National Recovery Administration, will leave Marion this week to conduct a series of luncheon talks in and around Detroit on the legislative and administrative phases of the recovery program. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Fletcher.

Mr. Fletcher said he expected to explain various phases of the program in his series of talks, and follow each with a forum in which questions regarding special problems will be answered.

The Stars Say For Friday, Sept. 8—

A PARTICULARLY lively and interesting state of affairs is presaged by the lunar and mutual planetary configurations. There is quite likely to be active and strategic contact with rings, mergers, close corporations or secret societies. All pertaining to literary work, publishing, etc., should thrive, but real possessions, lands or property may encounter setbacks or postponements.

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a very lively and eventful year, with encouraging contacts with corporations, rings, combines or secret bodies. All pertaining to writings and publications should thrive. Private affairs may unfold some intriguing or singular phases. Rash and impulsive moves or quarrels would menace best interests. In all calmness and self-control are enjoined.

A child born on this day should be versatile, clever, lively, but may be disposed to be impetuous, wayward and quarrelsome, needing firm early discipline.

School Enrollment To Show Little Change Here

Officials Prepare for Reopening of Classes Next Monday Morning.

The Marion public school enrollment for the 1939-40 school year will approximate the same number of students as last year, school officials said today. The first day enrollment last year was 6,527.

When schools open Monday morning the upper grades, tenth, eleventh and twelfth, are expected to show an increase and the lower grades a decrease. According to figures compiled by officials, the tenth, eleventh and twelfth year enrollments will show an increase of from 35 to 40 per cent in the last three years.

With the increased enrollment in the upper grades, it will be necessary to operate tenth and eleventh grade classes at the Thomas A. Edison Junior High school building.

The addition of an eleventh year class at the junior high school building was decided on when it became evident that unless some outlet was made, Harding High school would

NURSE REPORTS ON WORK IN AUGUST

Miss Alma Denney Holds Down Three Jobs for Month.

Three jobs were combined in August by Miss Alma Denney, tuberculosis nurse, her report of August activities shows. In addition to her own work, she served as acting county health nurse in the absence, because of illness, of Mrs. Edna Travis and also looked after the work of Miss Mary Brennenman, Red Cross nurse, who was on a vacation.

In tuberculosis work, Miss Denney made 48 visits in the interest of patients including 32 for patients in the city and 16 for those in the county. One patient was admitted to a sanatorium for treatment, and another was dismissed from a sanatorium following treatment.

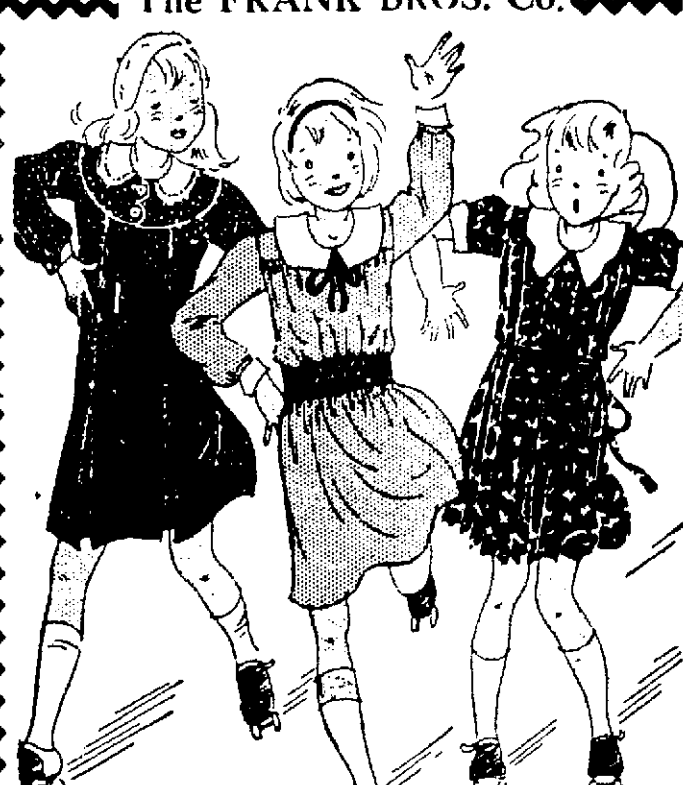

In her duties as county health nurse, Miss Denney made 32 visits. Her Red Cross activities are not listed with the report of her county nursing and tuberculosis work.

COURT DISMISSES CHARGE ON CHECK

A charge against C. E. Grubbs, 40, of Columbus, of issuing a check without sufficient funds, was dismissed yesterday afternoon in municipal court when Grubbs made a settlement for the check.

The charge was filed by Oscar Jenner, proprietor of the Modern tavern at 240 West Center street, who alleged that Grubbs gave him a check for $15 on Aug. 21 on the Ohio National bank in Columbus which was not honored by the bank.

THEY PLAN TO MARRY FIFTY TIMES

An unusual method of celebrating their wedding anniversary is followed by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ezell (above), of Los Angeles, who obtain a marriage license and re-marry each year, hoping in this way to keep their life one long honeymoon. The couple, married four times since their first wedding in 1929, hope to trip to the altar at least fifty times.

WEDDINGS
Caledonia pastor
Reads Ceremony
The marriage of Miss Thomas Band and Mr. W. E. Reed, of east of Caledonia, was celebrated Sunday afternoon in Memorial M. E. church at Caledonia. The single ring service was read by the pastor, Rev. G. A. Hickson at 4 o'clock in the presence of 50 relatives and friends. Preceding the ceremony a program of musical music was played by Mrs. Paul Warwick and Mrs. Hazel Chubb of Gallon.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a wedding dress of navy blue chiffon with harmonizing accessories and her flowers were a corsage of gardenias. Her attendant was her sister, Miss Cleora Baird, who wore a black satin frock with a corsage of roses and lilies of the valley. The bridegroom was the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Reed, who were at the home of Miss Helen Warwick following the ceremony.

Former Marion Resident

The HIDDEN DOOR

BY FRANK L. PACKARD

Sept. 1933. Frank L. Packard

He flung a swift, comprehensive glance around him. The cabin was not elaborate, nor was it large. Running fore and aft, a bunk was on one side, a settee of sorts, with torn covering, on the other. A swinging oil lamp, lighted, hung low over a table in the center. A small safe stood against the after bulkhead.

There were two chairs, one on each side of the table—and, flanking the companionway, a locker, whose top appeared to be a catch-all for everything from nautical instruments and charts to bottles and glasses.

Dollaire waved his hand toward the locker. "Help yourselves," he invited with a grin; "and then you tell Helme how many bottles he can make out of one, with the kick she's still there! By gar! Me, sometimes I think I will do that like you fellows before I leave St. Pierre."

"Thanks," said Buck O'Mara—and, pouring out a stiff portion, downed it at a gulp. Benny Malone did likewise. The bottle was steady in Colin's hand as he poured for himself. "Queer! They were going to kill Dollaire in here. And his, Colin's, hand was steady. The fiery three-fingers was like so much water."

Dollaire took one of the chairs. Buck O'Mara took the other, facing Dollaire across the table. Colin, obedient to a nudge, slumped down beside Benny Malone on the settee behind Buck O'Mara. Benny Malone's hand was thrust negligently into the side pocket of his coat. Dollaire was in full view from the settee.

Buck O'Mara tossed a rubber-banded pile of crisp new bills down on the table in front of Dollaire. "Here's the dough," he said. "Go ahead and count it."

Dollaire reached for the money greedily, ripped off the rubber band, and began to count. He counted laboriously, steadily, wetting his forefinger on his tongue. At the end he snapped the rubber band back into place around the bills.

"She's right!" he announced. "And Helme, he's all right, too. I put this in the safe. Yes? Then we all have another little drink, eh?" "I'm glad you're satisfied"—there was a purr in Buck O'Mara's voice. "We wouldn't like you to feel when you're sitting in with our outfit that we'd hold anything out on you, or that you're not getting all that's coming to you."

"Sure, I'm satisfied," grinned Dollaire as he stood up, moved over to the safe and swung its door open. "Sure, I'm satisfied! I'm satisfied!"—he swung suddenly around, a revolver in his hand, his face working with fury, his voice a snarl—"I'm satisfied, by God, it is a trick. You move—one of you three—and I shoot. This money—I got lots like this. I know where she come from. She's counterfeit."

NO one moved. The metamorphosis had been dynamic, almost instantaneous. In the fraction of a second, Dollaire, the condemned, had become Dollaire, the executioner. Dollaire, behind that ugly, unwavering muzzle, held the whip hand—and Dollaire would not have the slightest qualm about using it.

And then Buck O'Mara spoke. "Aw, snap out of it!" he retorted coolly, contemptuously. "You sound like you'd got a leak in your dome cover. If you think there's anything phony about that dough, slip it back to me quick, boy, for say, I can use it, believe me. Counterfeit hell! It's so good it's worth a rake-off where you come from anyhow. What's the matter with you? Have you gone crazy—or what?"

It was an about face—and Colin, listening, as he stared at the revolver muzzle in Dollaire's hand, did not need to be told that Buck O'Mara had no other chance, no other play to make. Counterfeit money! So that was it. It seemed as though he could see again Dollaire's attack upon the club. It seemed as though he could hear from out of nowhere, the Mask's burst of laughter as he had conceived this ironic bit of byplay.

But now? Buck O'Mara perhaps had not expected that the spurious money would be recognized at once, and possibly not at all, in which latter case he had obviously intended to taunt Dollaire with it in the end.

On the other hand, should Dollaire recognize it of his own accord, O'Mara had undoubtedly expected some sign of the fact and had intended to act accordingly the moment the sign came. Buck could not have guessed Dollaire's cunning, or have anticipated the lightning change that came as he turned back to the room from the safe.

There was Dollaire's gun and there sat his three visitors. To Be Continued.

Given in Marriage

BY ADELE GARRISON

Lee Chow intimates to Midge that harm may come to Dicky or Her Children if She Persists in Refusing To Listen to His Story.

AS LEE CHOW finished his deliberate little pronouncement, for he had uttered each word slowly and with meaning emphasis—I felt as if the autumn breeze outside had suddenly changed to a driving storm of sleet, chilling me down to the very marrow of my bones.

For there was menace in the veiled warning he had just given me. I was sure of that. It was no figment of my imagination this time. I had known Lee Chow a long time, and never before had he stepped outside his orbit of intimate of Hugh Grantland and friend of the rest of us. I had not believed it to be in him to meddle in other people's affairs, or to speak of my relations with my husband with such crassness.

What had he said upon my indignant refusal to continue the conversation along those lines any longer? That he believed he could show me reasons why it would be to my interest, and to my husband's, for me to continue the discussion with him. It was not so much what he had said, as "the nasty way he said it" that had sent a little chill of terror down my spine; but my temper and spirit were up, and I spoke even more emphatically than before.

"There is nothing in the world you can show me which will make me alter my decision," I said with frigid finality.

He waited for another minute, while I had the feeling that I was being slowly impaled upon two sharp stakes, as piercing was the gaze of those uninking eyes.

"You are a very rash woman, Mrs. Graham," he said at last. "It is never wise to refuse any information that is offered you. How do you know how can you know—that the safety of your husband, his very life may not depend upon your listening to me? Or, perhaps, the safety of your children?"

He had pierced my defenses at last. I must know what he meant by that last covert threat. Yet he had put the query in so general a fashion that I really had no grounds for claiming that he had threatened me in any way. But my manner was not nearly so truculent as I put a question which seemed to tear my throat as I uttered it.

"Do you mean?" I asked, "that the safety of my husband and my children lie in your hands, and that if I refuse to listen to you, any protection which you may have given them will be withdrawn?"

With his eyes still fixed upon me, he raised his hands as if in astonished protest.

"My dear lady!" he said. "Have I said anything like that, or even intimated it? I have told you that I had information of importance to give you. You refused absolutely to listen to me. I then told you that you were a very rash woman, and that it is never wise to refuse proffered information. That last aphorism is a very old one, by the way."

"Then," he went on, "I put a purely academic question to you, asking how you knew that such and such things might not depend upon your decision. There was no personal application. I assure you."

His voice was hypnotic, his uninking stare more so. Imperceptibly I began to wonder how it was that I had been so truculent concerning this information he wished to give me.

After all, he had proved his friendship for Dicky and me in many ways. I remembered the time he had trailed Grace Draper to the room where she had lived in disguise and conducted so friendly a plot against me that, even yet, I awoke with nightmares of it. He had solved the mystery, proved my innocence of the plot against Dicky's life where the foolish ingenuity of Grace Draper had made me appear guilty, and had pressed the half-crazed woman to desperate suicide and perpetual release for me and mine from her menace.

He probably meant me, well, I told myself, with a feeling of dreamy exhaustion. It could do no harm to listen to him for a few minutes. I could always stop the conversation when I wished.

"I am sorry," I said dolefully. "I did not mean to accuse you of anything so vile."

He bent toward me slightly, and I felt queerly as if his eyes were growing larger.

"Do not think of it again," he said. "Only one thing matters. Are you ready to listen to me?"

His eyes seemed to come floating toward me, then to recede. But I had a feeling that I could not get away from them and also the curious conviction that I must answer in the affirmative the question he had just put to me.

"Yes, yes," I breathed. "I will listen." And then my father's voice, calm and casual, sounded from the hall.

"Margaret, may I disturb you for a minute? I need your help." (Copyright, 1933, A. S. S. Inc.)

Why!.. haven't you heard?

X-70 IS MORE POPULAR WITH OHIO WOMEN THAN NEXT 14 GASOLINES COMBINED!

HERE'S HOW WE KNOW! Smart shoppers always, and smarter than ever after their depression training, Ohio women have impressed us that they are unusually shrewd finders of good value.

So, in a recent survey of 49,311 motorists conducted by the nationally famous R. L. Polk & Co., thousands of women drivers were asked what gasoline they preferred.

Individualism on choice of shoes, hats, gowns—everything else—aside, the women agreed in a rousing majority on the sense of sticking with X-70 as a choice of gasoline. X-70 was more popular with Ohio women than the next 14 brands combined!

And why not? The reason is that X-70 is a real value. It costs a little more than some, but it gives you more miles per gallon than any other gasoline in the state.

It's the only gasoline that's been tested and found to be the best for your car.

So, if you're a woman driver, you'll want to get X-70. It's the only gasoline that's been tested and found to be the best for your car.

Giants Gain Even Break in Twin Bill with Pirates

BUCCS GRAB OPENER BUT NEW YORK CLUB VICTOR IN NIGHTCAP

Gotham Nine Still Faces Difficulty in Next Two Games.

There still was plenty of trouble in sight for the New York Giants today but behind them was convincing proof that they have the ability to come back when they have to.

The Giants' lead, which dwindled at an alarming rate in the first two games of their important series at Pittsburgh, remained a 6-3 game as they rallied brilliantly to win the second game of yesterday's doubleheader and the third of the series, 9 to 1, after the embattled Buccaneers had pulled out a 6 to 5 tie-inning decision in the opener.

Dimmed Pirate Hopes
The triumph, while it ruined the Pittsburghers' hopes of sweeping the series and cutting the Giant margin to a mere 2½ games, left the league leaders with two more games against their nearest rivals today and tomorrow, and a pair of tough customers, Chicago and St. Louis, still to be met after a breathing spell at Cincinnati against the last place Reds.

When the big twin bill was going on, the third place Chicago Cubs crept half a game closer by knocking off the Boston Braves 4 to 3 behind young Bud Tinning, who pitched a three-hit shutout up to the final inning. The St. Louis Cardinals did even better, beating the Phillies twice, 3-1, and 8-7, after taking the opener on Bill Hallahan's three-hit pitching. The Cards had to stage a seven-run spurt in the last two innings of the nightcap.

Brooklyn and Cincinnati divided the meaningless doubleheader, the Dodgers taking the first 7-3, and the Reds pounding out 21 hits to reach their high scoring mark of the season with an 18 to 8 victory in the second.

American Unchanged
The American league situation remained unchanged with Washington 9½ games ahead of the New York Yankees. Alec McColl, 37-year-old Senator rookie pitcher, four-hit ball in his first major league start and batted in two runs in a 3-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox. Lou Gehrig did all the Yankee scoring in the Yanks' 3-2 triumph over St. Louis Browns, hitting his twenty-fourth homer among other blows.

Jimmie Fox came through with his forty-first homer and Lefty Grove hurled effectively in the clincher for his twentieth victory of the season as the Philadelphia Athletics downed Cleveland 5 to 4. The Detroit Tigers combined 14 hits with a flock of walks off Boston pitchers and beat the Red Sox 11 to 5.

Powdered insecticide for household plants are being sold in pasteboard containers that also serve as bellows to blow the powder where needed.

Gauthier Seeks Fullback for Wesleyan Grid Team

DELAWARE O. Sept. 1.—New blood for the fullback position, a weak spot on last year's team, looks for Ohio Wesleyan's 1933 football squad when its assembly here next Monday for its first practice.

The Buckeyes open with Heidelberg here on Sept. 30, and two weeks later will play Syracuse at Syracuse, a team which the Ohioans beat last season, 19 to 12. Five Buckeye conference games are on the card.

Four sophomores will be kept candidates for fullback, and from them Coach George Gauthier expects to find the man who can cope with the stellar fullbacks found on other Buckeye conference teams.

Loss of Material
Henry Mohler of Dayton, and Donald Lockert of Akron, are two of the quartet. The others are Ray Overturn of Columbus and Bill Turner of St. Louis.

Most of last year's regulars will be back with the principal exception of John Haugh, all-Buckeye guard. Other veterans, lost by whose places will be filled by other veterans, include Roy Bennett and Donald Lantz, ends, George Myler, center, William Dickerson and Charles Worcester, backs.

The end positions will be sought by four other veterans. They are Ray Harley of Ashtabula; Arthur Bell of Baltimore, Floyd Kennard of Columbus, and Robert Soper of Delaware. In addition, two outstanding sophomore candidates are Bill Stupis of Ft. Wayne, Ind., and Bob Alexander of Warren.

Tackle prospects are giving Gauthier his biggest worry with financial difficulties facing several of his men. Gauthier is hopeful that the economic obstacle will be hurdled and that all of the men will be in school. Veterans for the position include Frank Sayers of Columbus; Robert Smith of Marion and Ray Wilson of Cleveland. Harry Patton of Marion, Ohio, played two years ago, and is expected to return. Patton has been a starter in the past, and is expected to be a factor in the team.

Several Linebackers Back
Halter Mize of Marion, Ohio, and so will Eddie Page of Dayton. Mize played last year, and is expected to be a factor in the team. Page played last year, and is expected to be a factor in the team.

The halfback position will be sought by four veterans. They are John Turley of Delaware, Howard White of Cincinnati, and two sophomores, Bill Stupis of Ft. Wayne, Ind., and Bob Alexander of Warren.

Quarterbacking will be sought by four veterans. They are Ray Harley of Ashtabula; Arthur Bell of Baltimore, Floyd Kennard of Columbus, and Robert Soper of Delaware. In addition, two outstanding sophomore candidates are Bill Stupis of Ft. Wayne, Ind., and Bob Alexander of Warren.

KENT STATE COACH?

ALLEN COMPTON
Allen (Haldy) Compton, former Harding High School basketball coach and later coach at Wittenberg College in Springfield, Ohio, was today reported in line for the post of athletic director of Kent State College at Kent, Compton, the information said, was one of three choices for the post, Dick Larkins of Ohio State University and Bill Lange of Muskingum College. Larkins and Lange have both declined the post.

AMATEUR LINKSMEN SHOOT HIGH SCORES

Par Withstands Efforts of Entries in Tourney at Cincinnati.

By The Associated Press
CINCINNATI, Sept. 1.—With 156 fixed by observers as a likely qualifying limit for the match play rounds, those who would occupy the throne room of the American amateur golf today were getting the "feel" of the tricky Kenwood course where the national tournament begins Monday.

A card of 153 was sufficient to qualify at five farms last year, the lowest limit since 1919.

Early practice rounds gave indication that Kenwood's par of 71 is not going to be cracked right and left. The best so far has been 72, the effort of Lawson Little of San Francisco.

The next best scores have been 74, turned in by Albert Campbell of Tacoma, Wash., Canadian amateur champion; Frank Dolp of Portland, Ore.; George Dunlap, member of the 1932 American Walker cup team; Neil Ruddy of Cincinnati, and Earl Dayton, 19-year-old sensation of Dayton, O.

Jack Manger, another youngster from Dallas, Tex., and Reynolds Smith, also of Dallas, shot 76.

GRIFFITHS BEATEN BY ITALIAN PUG

By The Associated Press
BOSTON, Sept. 1.—The Boston heavyweight picture which has faded badly since the death of Ernie Schaaf and the passage of Jack Sharkey from the championship ranks, may get some needed retouching from Tony Shucco, Italian youngster.

Tony surprised his admirers last night by knocking out Tuffy Griffiths, experienced Chicago battler, in the fourth round of the scheduled 10-rounder.

Griffiths, who has been demanding a crack at Sharkey, had 10 rounds on Tony who kept stinging him with a machine-gun left for three rounds as Tuffy floundered around with his body attack.

BATTLERS TRAIN FOR TITLE FIGHT

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—The similarity in the boxing styles of Barney Ross, lightweight champion, and Tony Canzone, the former title holder, who meet in a 15-round bout at the Polo Grounds next Tuesday night has impressed the experts more than anything else in their preparations.

Both the champion, who won his title from Canzone at Chicago in June, and his rival featured sharp left jabs, left hooks and smart right crosses in their assaults on their sparring partners. Each scored one knockdown and there was no fault to be found with the physical condition of either battler.

Zahn and Mitchell Lead Batters in City Series

A look at the batting averages of the Little World Series just completed would seem to indicate that either the pitching was pretty tough or else some of the batters were far below their usual form.

While several of the city's hitting stars continued their steady work, a large number of them found the series "tiring" and "puzzling" to do much in the way of batting.

Charlie Mitchell, Gasco left fielder, racked up the highest average of the series with a mark of .667.

Mitchell played in only two games, however, and batted only six times so "he" cannot be probably go to Bobby Zahn, a team mate of Mitchell. Zahn made 11 trips to the plate and slammed out five hits for a .454 average. Mitchell also turned in an impressive mark, hitting 2/9 in 13 plate appearances.

C. H. ISALY AND SON WIN GOLF LAURELS

Finish First in First Father and Son Tourney Staged Here.

C. H. Isaly and his son, Harold, won honors in a father and son tourney sponsored jointly by Mr. O. Del and Marion Country Club. Their aggregate score for 12 holes was 340 strokes.

Seven fathers and sons completed play in the tourney. They are W. F. Fitt and son R. A. Fitt; W. J. Rowley and son, Cliff Rowley; W. D. Stark and son, William Stark; Fred Sage and son, Frederick Jr.; A. C. Bachman and son, E. Paul Bachman; Walter Hoffmeyer and son, Richard Hoffmeyer.

First round play in the Marion Country Club women's championship tourney is under way, following announcement of drawings following the playing of qualifying rounds. First round play is scheduled to end Sunday.

Mrs. Howard Stoll, whose score of 48 for nine holes was the lowest in the qualifying rounds, was matched with Mrs. Robert White.

COLUMBIA ELEVEN IN DEMONSTRATION

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—The demonstration football game to show how the latest rule changes work out, which attracted considerable attention last year, will be repeated by the Columbia squad Saturday for the edification of the gridiron coaches and others who will attend the annual rules interpretation meeting.

A morning meeting at which Dr. Marvin A. Stevens, former Yale coach, Herbert O. Fritz, Princeton coach and Dr. J. J. O'Brien of Tufts will speak on various phases of the game and a night session at which members answer questions on interpreting the newest rules also are on the program laid out by the eastern intercollegiate association.

ANDERSON CONFIDENT IRISH ELEVEN WILL HAVE GOOD SEASON

Notre Dame Mentor Has Veteran Team Ready for Campaign.

By The Associated Press
SOUTH BEND, Ind., Sept. 1.—Coach H. H. Anderson is confident the Irish football team will have a good season.

Anderson, who has coached the Irish team for 10 years, said the team is "well equipped" for the season.

Since he picked up the team, Anderson has seen the Irish team play in the Big Ten and the Notre Dame series. He has seen the Irish team play in the Big Ten and the Notre Dame series.

"Hunk" started out as an understudy, but he was a good player. He was a good player. He was a good player.

"On well be easy again this year," he replied as the inevitable question on prospects was asked. "We've got a good team and the way through may go to win a big way this fall. Why should I sing the blues? I've got almost the same team as a year ago except that I'm in the market for a couple good guards and a quarterback who can think fast. The result of the season here depends almost entirely on the improvement of the teams we face. If they haven't improved, we should beat them; if they have, well it's going to be a tough battle."

The grin widened on "Hunk's" face.

No Overconfidence
"I'll tell you one thing that's going to make us tougher this year than last," he chuckled. "And that is that our players have learned to do some fearing. We haven't got a soft spot on our schedule of nine games, starting with Kansas and ending up with Army. Last year we started out too fast and some of the players got to thinking they were too good. Well, this year they won't get that chance."

The Notre Dame schedule:
Oct. 7—Kansas at South Bend.
Oct. 14—At Indiana.
Oct. 21—Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh.

Oct. 28—Pittsburgh at South Bend.
Nov. 11—Purdue at South Bend.
Nov. 18—Northwestern at Evansville.
Nov. 25—Southern California at South Bend.
Dec. 2—Army at New York.

Series Receipts
Total $519.75
The total receipts for the series were lower than in 1932 but the average per game exceeded the average of 1932 in the six games played last year, a total of $519.75 was collected. The series receipts totaled $519.75, an average of $86.62 against an average of $76.52 in 1932. The figures for the 1933 series:
First round—$365.97, Fourth—$42.63, Second—$24.40, Sixth—$107.60.

SUITS
$24.50

SOME have small check patterns—some lean toward larger block effects on a warm-looking background. But the "big idea" in suits this fall is to get away from the over-somberness that characterized clothes too long. If you want something more in line with the more cheerful trend of your own spirits these days, we suggest that you see our selection of new styles in CHECKS, PLAIDS, STRIPES and MIXTURES.
